

Degree of Physical Disabilities (Attached Table 5 of the Enforcement Regulations of the Law for the Welfare of Persons with Physical Disabilities)

Grade		Grade 1	Grade 2	Grade 3	Grade 4
Visual impairments		The sum of visual acuity in both eyes is no more than 0.01. (This refers to measurements using the universal eye examination chart; in the case of individuals with ametropia, this refers to the measurement taken with corrective eyewear. The same applies hereinafter.)	1) The sum of visual acuity in both eyes is no less than 0.02 and no more than 0.04 2) Visual field diameter of each eye is not more than 10 degrees and binocular visual field loss is no less than 95%	1) The sum of visual acuity in both eyes is no less than 0.05 and no more than 0.08 2) The visual field diameter of each eye is no more than 10 degrees and binocular visual field loss is no less than 90%	1) The sum of visual acuity of both eyes is no less than 0.09 and no more than 0.12 2) The visual field diameter is no more than 10 degrees in either eye
Functional impairments in hearing or equilibrium	Functional impairments in hearing		The hearing level in both ears is 100 decibels or higher (i.e., complete deafness in both ears)	The hearing level in both ears is no less than 90 decibels (i.e., the inability to hear loud voices unless the source is in contact with the auricle)	1) The hearing level in both ears is no less than 80 decibels (i.e., the inability to hear speech voices unless the source is in contact with the auricle) 2) No more than 50% of normal speech can be heard clearly
	Functional impairments in equilibrium			Significant functional impairments in equilibrium
Functional impairments in voice, speech or chewing				The loss of vocal, speech or chewing functions	Significant functional impairment in voice, speech or chewing
Orthopedic impairments	Upper limbs	1) Complete loss of functioning in both upper limbs 2) Loss of both upper limbs from at least the wrist joint down	1) Significant functional impairment of both upper limbs 2) Loss of all fingers on both hands 3) Loss of at least half of the upper limb on either side 4) Complete loss of functioning in either upper limb	1) Loss of the thumbs and forefingers of both hands 2) Complete loss of function in the thumbs and forefingers of both hands 3) Significant functional impairment of either upper limb 4) Loss of all the fingers of either hand 5) Complete loss of functioning in all fingers in either hand	1) Loss of the thumbs of both hands 2) Complete loss of function in the thumbs of both hands 3) Complete loss of function in the shoulder joint, elbow joint or wrist joint of either upper limb 4) Loss of the thumb and forefinger of either hand 5) Complete loss of function in the thumb and forefinger of either hand 6) Loss of three fingers, one of which must be the thumb or forefinger, of either hand 7) Complete loss of function in three fingers, one of which must be thumb or forefinger, of either hand 8) Significant functional impairment of four fingers, one of which must be the thumb or forefinger, of either hand
	Lower limbs	1) Complete loss of function in both lower limbs 2) Loss of at least half of the thigh of both lower limbs	1) Significant functional impairment of both lower limbs 2) Loss of at least half of the lower leg of both lower limbs	1) Loss of both lower limbs at or above the Chopart joint 2) Loss of at least half of the thigh of either lower limb 3) Complete loss of function in either lower limb	1) Loss of all the toes of both feet 2) Complete loss of function in all the toes of both feet 3) Loss of at least half of either lower limb 4) Significant functional impairment of either lower limb 5) Complete loss of function in the knee joint or hip joint of either lower limb 6) The length of either lower limb is at least 10 cm or 1/10 shorter than the other
	Trunk	Inability to maintain a seated position due to functional impairment of the trunk	1) Difficulty in maintaining a seated or standing position due to functional impairment of the trunk 2) Difficulty in standing up due to functional impairment of the trunk	Difficulty in walking due to functional impairment of the trunk
	Upper limb function due to a non-progressive cerebral disorder occurred in or before infancy	Almost complete inability to perform everyday tasks involving the use of the upper limbs due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Everyday tasks involving the use of the upper limbs are extremely limited due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Everyday tasks involving the use of the upper limb are significantly limited due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment in the upper limbs caused by involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.
	Motor function	Inability to walk due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Extremely limited ability to walk due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Walking is limited to everyday activity at home due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.
	Functional impairments of the heart	Extremely limited ability to perform everyday personal tasks due to functional impairment of the heart		Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the heart	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the heart
Functional impairments of the kidneys	Extremely limited ability to perform everyday personal tasks due to functional impairment of the kidneys		Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the kidneys	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the kidneys
Functional impairments of the respiratory organs	Extremely limited ability to perform everyday personal tasks due to functional impairment of the respiratory organs		Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the respiratory organs	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the respiratory organs
Functional impairments of the bladder or rectum	Extremely limited ability to perform everyday personal tasks due to functional impairment of the bladder or rectum		Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the bladder or rectum	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the bladder or rectum
Functional impairments of the small intestine	Extremely limited ability to perform everyday personal tasks due to functional impairment of the small intestine		Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the small intestine	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to functional impairment of the small intestine
Disorder of immunological functions induced by HIV	Almost inability to lead a daily life due to the disorder of immunological functions due to HIV	Extremely limited ability to lead a daily life due to the disorder of immunological functions due to HIV	Daily activities at home are significantly limited due to the disorder of immunological functions induced by HIV (except for the case where social daily activities are significantly limited)	Daily social activities are significantly limited due to the disorder of immunological functions induced by HIV

Grade 5	Grade 6	Grade 7
1) The sum of visual acuity in both eyes is no less than 0.13 and no more than 0.2 2) Loss of one half or more of the vision field of both eyes	Visual acuity of one eye is no more than 0.02 and visual acuity of the other eye is no more than 0.6, and the sum of visual acuity of both eyes is no less than 0.2
	1) The hearing level in both ears is no less than 70 decibels (i.e., the inability to understand words spoken at a distance of 40 cm away or more) 2) The hearing level in one ear is no less than 90 decibels and no less than 50 decibels in the other ear
Significantly impaired equilibrium
1) Significant functional impairment of the thumbs of both hands 2) Significant functional impairment of the shoulder joint, elbow joint or wrist joint of either upper limb 3) Loss of the thumb of either hand 4) Complete loss of function in the thumb of either hand 5) Significant functional impairment of the thumb and forefinger of either hand 6) Significant functional impairment of three fingers, one of which must be the thumb or forefinger, of either hand	1) Significant functional impairment of the thumb of either hand 2) Loss of two fingers, one of which is the forefinger, of either hand 3) Complete loss of function in two fingers, one of which is the forefinger, of either hand	1) Slight functional impairment of either upper limb 2) Slight functional impairment of the shoulder joint, elbow joint or wrist joint of either upper limb 3) Slight functional impairment of the fingers of either hand 4) Significant functional impairment of two fingers, one of which is the forefinger, of either hand 5) Loss of the middle finger, ring finger and little finger of either hand 6) Complete loss of function in the middle finger, ring finger and little finger on either hand
1) Significant functional impairment of the hip joint or knee joint of either lower limb 2) Complete loss of function in the ankle joint of either lower limb 3) One lower limb is at least 5 cm or 1/15 shorter than the other	1) Loss of one lower limb at the Lisfranc joint or above. 2) Significant functional impairment in the ankle joint of either lower limb	1) Significant functional impairment of all toes of both feet 2) Slight functional impairment of either lower limb 3) Slight functional impairment of the hip joint, knee joint or ankle joint of either lower limb 4) Loss of all toes on either foot 5) Complete loss of function in all toes of either foot 6) One lower limb is at least 3 cm or 1/20 shorter than the other
Significant functional impairment in the trunk
Functional impairment in the upper limb due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc., that interferes with daily social activity	Reduced functioning of the upper limb due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Being afflicted by involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc., in the upper limb
Involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc., that interferes with daily social activity	Reduced motor function due to involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc.	Being afflicted by involuntary movement or a lack of coordination, etc., in the lower limb

Remarks

1. In the case of the existence of two disabilities in the same Grade, the higher Grade shall apply to the individual in question. However, if the two disabilities are specifically designated within this Table, the corresponding Grade shall apply.
2. Individuals with two or more orthopedic disabilities falling under Grade 7 shall be classified as Grade 6.
3. In the case of an individual with two or more disabilities falling under different Grades, the individual can, giving consideration to the extent of these disabilities, be classified into a Grade higher than those in question.
4. The term "loss of a finger" shall, in the case of a thumb, refer to loss from the inter-phalange knuckle down, and, in the case of other fingers, to loss from the first inter-phalange knuckle down.
5. The term "functional impairment of a finger" shall refer to functional impairment in the area from the metacarpal joint down, and, in the case of a thumb, shall also include impairments affecting resistance.
6. When measuring the length of the upper or lower limb that has been lost, the practical length (i.e., measured from the armpit in the case of the former and from the protuberance of the hip in the case of the thigh) shall be used.
7. The distance from the anterior iliac spine to the bottom end of the inner ankle shall be considered as being the length of the leg.

Exclusion Rates

As of April 2009

Check List for Work Transition Support and Check List for Employment Support

1 Introduction

In accordance with the implementation of the Services and Support for Persons with Disabilities Act, Work Transition Support Providers shall make individual support plans and provide support so that persons with disabilities who are eligible for support (hereafter, "eligible persons") are able to receive proper employment support services. Under these circumstances, National Institute of Vocational Rehabilitation, by request from the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare, drew up a Check List for Work Transition Support in 2006 to assist Work Transition Support Providers in understanding the situation of eligible persons at each stage.

In addition, the Check List for Trainees to be used for education and training prior to employment and the Check List for Employees to be used for employment management and educating human resources after employment were drawn up in 2008, so that they will be commonly utilized by staff in the field of education, training, and welfare.

2 Comparison of Purpose and Usage Method for Each Check List
